OFFICE No. 9 TEMPLE STREET.

NOTICE.

THE LOS ANGELES DAILY TIMES will be sold on all the trains of the Southern and Central Pacific Railroads; also on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and Texas & Pacific roads.

THE TIMES can also be found at the newsstands of the Palace and Occidental Hotels and Russ House, San Francisco.

THE TIMES office is connected with the telephone system of this city, and those desiring to advertise in or subscribe for this paper can do so by this means.

$10 REWARD!

The proprietors of the TIMES will pay a reward of $10 for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of any person stealing the TIMES from the doors of its subscribers.

To Correspondents.

The writer's name and address must in all cases accompany communications, where either publication or perusal is desired. Unless so verified they receive no attention.

The most widely-circulated Daily Paper in Southern California is the Los Angeles Times.

HERE is another grievance for the Nihilists. The Russian Government is grappling with the liquor evil, and a recent decree concerning the traffic is of the strictest sort. There is to be only one liquor shop in a village, and only one for two or three villages where they are contiguous. The seller must be a native of the place, appointed and paid by the common council, and is liable to dismissal, fine and imprisonment if he allows anybody to get drunk. And, moreover, if a village gets a reputation for drunkenness, the liquor shop may be closed for as long a period as may be thought necessary. Too severe restrictions upon liquor-selling may have the effect of stimulating the secret and illicit manufacture of kvass, the national beer—and a villainous drink it is—unless the Russian peasant's mortal dread of the dungeon and the knout acts as a preventive to his going into the distillery business on his own account.

A CHICAGO paper harshly discusses the claims of women to entrance to a first-class college on the ground that they are unfit for real college work. "Where," it asks, "is the woman who can pull a creditable oar in a college boat-race? Where is the woman who has ever attained any skill as a base-ball pitcher? What women have ever attracted attention and won praise by their excellence as foot-ball players? Are there any women who would prove efficient in a college 'rush,' or could stand 'hazing' with cheerfulness and fortitude?" If these conundrums cannot be satisfactorily answered, we guess the inexpert women will have to be barred out of colleges with the latest modern improvements. The trifling matter of brain capacity and brain work don't count.

Governor Cleveland, of New York, was a reformer before he was elected, and the monopolists pretended to be terribly frightened at what it was supposed would be his actio during his administration. His "reform" professions, however, were only for use during the canvass. Railroad and other corporations now express great satisfaction with his administration. The truth of the matter is, the monopolists have captured and own Governor Cleveland, as they own nearly the whole of the Democratic party.—[Kansas City Journal.

It may have been observed that in California there are heard no particularly ear-piercing howls from the monopolists against Governor Stoneman. It was Estee, the Republican standard-bearer, who was considered the "reliable enemy" of the railroads.

THE Sacramento Bee says that so much doubt is being expressed as to the constitutionality of the new County Government Act that it is to be hoped somebody will be sufficiently interested to have the matter tested before the Supreme Court at early day. It would be rather embarrassing for the several counties to set its machinery in motion, incur liabilities, etc., and then discover that the law is not a sound one. The people have had bitter experience enough of that sort in the case of the Drainage Act.

A NORTHERN exchange asserts that Geo. C. Perkins, ex-Governor, will shortly desert the Republican party and join the ranks of the Democrats. We do not know that there is any truth in the rumor or statement, but if it is true we feel to believe that the Republican party will still be able to worry along without George C., whom, in a moment of amiable weakness, it generously lifted from obscurity to the highest office in the gift of the State.

IT is estimated that the re-adjustment of salaries of postmasters directed by the bill passed during the closing hours of the last Congress, will save $2,000,000. There is a general scaling down, with now and then an advance in compensation, which is regulated on the basis of the business transacted.

PROGRESSIVE MEXICO has acquired another modern improvement—a Chinese question. Complaint is made in her northern states that these ubiquitous workers are interfering with the native. They have already supplanted the washerwomen, and are moving on the works of other humble toilers.

DR. MORGAN DIX says of woman: "If she once gets complete independence she will be socially and morally wicked." Dr. Morgan, believing as he does, will of course see to it that his wife, mother, sisters and daughters do not get "complete independence."

THE Courier-Journal has been sued for libel in the sum of $25,000 by Mrs. Sarah Hite, all on account of some letters published regarding that lady's past history, in which it was stated that a liaison had existed between that lady and the late Jesse James.

THE American Counsul at Casa Blanca has filed a protest with the British minister at Morocco against Amil, the British Consular interpreter, who caused the flogging of the Jewesses at Casa Blanca.

THERE is an impression abroad in the land that Lady Florence Dixie has an exceedingly fertile imagination, with large powers of romancing.

THE Northern Pacific Railroad has been completed to Bozeman, in Montana, and the event was celebrated in that place by a grand banquet.

Southern Development.

Correspondence San Francisco Bulletin.]

It is a year of great things in the development of Southern California, especially, perhaps, in Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties, where the tide of incoming tourists and home seekers by the southern route first touches the fertile parts of California. From San Francisco there is a developing influence reaching southward along the coast to San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara counties, of which you have had full descriptions in the Bulletin. Farther south the chief improving influences come directly from the East, and are the results of years of announcements of the profits in Southern California horticulture and the delight of Southern California homes. In the neighborhood of Riverside—say within fifteen to thirty miles—there are several colony enterprises being pushed with much vigor, and they seem to have no lack of investors. Los Angeles county is advancing more quietly, but nevertheless surely. The city is continually extending and vacant areas are being built over. The visitor comes upon good-sized neighborhoods where new lumber and new paint are the ruling features. City property has in many cases doubled in value in a few months. Handsome brick blocks, some four stories in height, are arising. The hotels are well filed, and half the city seems to be in the lodging-house business, with no lack of customers. Living is cheap in Los Angeles. Twenty-five cent meals are quite palatable and well served, and it is said the fifteen-cent meals are satisfactory to those with good appetites. The city is evidently enjoying a period of unusual life, and one whose last visit was three years ago would hardly recognize the town to-day. Los Angeles farms look more promising than any others in Southern California. The county enjoys much more rainfall and a large supply of moisture from fogs, and will yield a large amount of produce, even if the season should prove as dry as now seems probable. This fact is duly recognized by land-seekers, and hence the host of small farms which one sees being marked out on the large tracts. [The above was written before the last rain.]

The Editor and His Work.

Think for a moment what it is which is demanded of him who stands in such a post of duty! Like the pilot, his hand always on the helm, he watches the atmospheric current of opinion and feeling and the tide of events as they all affect the public good. An unresting fidelity holds him constant to the most exacting form of professional duty, with little respite for health and none for pleasure. It is for him to guide against the schemers who seek to gain the public ear, to protect the ignorant and the innocent, to lift journalism from the function of a mere gatherer of news, which tends to make the world a vast whispering gallery, in which monstrous and distorted echoes of countless matters which had best sleep in oblivion reverberate, to that of a wise and just organ of public opinion, giving clearness and balance to the general mind, on one hand and on the other, speaking the general mind of the weightiest part of the community with a force and character that make it heard and heeded in the councils of the nation. To do such a work at all demands rare gifts of intellect and culture, of courage and tact. To do it worthily demands how much of truth and of wisdom, bravery to fight a wrong, insight to see the path of practicable duty, gentleness in dealing with opponents, magnanimity in judging motives, the absolute elimination of personal and selfish considerations; above all, self-abnegation—a merging of self in the truth and duty which is the very spirit of the disciple of Him who is truth itself, who hath said: "He that loseth his life for my sake shall find it." It is his to see men of less gifts, of less training, less experience, less capacity for public service rise to eminence, by his help, while he remains unseen, a power rather than a person, pouring his life into the channels of public service and losing it utterly, to find it again, doubtless, as the Master promised, in the knowledge which must surely come some day, somewhere, that the world is the better thereby.—[Rev. Henry W. Foote.

California Governors.

One of our California friends, says the Monterey Sentinel, while on a visit to the city of Mexico, fell in with Don Jose Maria Echendia, the first full commissioned Mexican Governor of Alta California. When in California, from 1825 to 1840, he ranked as Colonel of Engineers, but is now filling an office in the College of Mines, at the age of nearly seventy years. Jose Figueroa, Manuel Victoria, Nicolas Gutierrez, Mariano Chico, Manuel Micheltorena, and Manuel Jimeno, who also filled the same office, are dead. Don Luis Arguello, a native Californian, who was left in charge of the territory, in 1822, by Don Pablo Vicente Sola, died many years ago. Sola died in 1826. Juan Bautista Alvarado, Pio Pico and Echendia are the only old Governors living. Don Luis left a widow, now living at Santa Clara, who was said to be in her youth the very pink of beauty and grace, and first belle of all outdoors in California. The old lady is still held in the highest esteem and regard by the old people of the country for her genuine kindness of heart.

An Opinion on 'Frisco.

From the San Jose Murcury.]

It would not surprise us to see San Francisco in ashes within the next three months, and her mutton-head financial economists pleading, "for sweet charity's sake" with the outer world for bread and shelter. Even now the coyotes and owls, whose ancestors once thrived on that "distressful" peninsula, have cause to be jubilant over the prospect of the return to them of their ancient sand hills. Either Oakland, Port Costa, Vallejo or Benicia is a better locality than San Francisco for a great commercial city. Their opportunity is now at hand.

A Suggestion Worthy of Consideration.

From the San Francisco Exchange.]

The genial cow-boy has kept moderately quiet of late, but now he looms to the front once more. This time the Texas savage is on a strike for higher wages, and threatens in case his terms are not complied with to pillage and burn. There are great points of similarity between the cow-boy and the Apache, with a slight balance in favor of the latter savage. It would be a good idea to put the cow-boys upon a reservation and give the Apaches a show.

Tutaine.

From the San Bernardino Times, March 27.]

The jury in the Tutaine case went out about four o'clock yesterday afternoon, and, after being out all night until about a quarter past ten this morning, came into court with the statement that they could not agree, and were discharged by the court. They stood nine for acquittal and three for conviction. The court then fixed the bail of the prisoner at $500 to await a second trial, and remanded her to the custody of the Sheriff.

Check!

From the Oakland Tribune.]

A Democratic cotemporary claims that the Harbor Commission resolutions fully sustain the Democracy in "vacating offices in a wholesale style" to fill them with Democrats. Unfortunately for its argument, the thefts of Gray were not known until after the adjournment of the Legislature, and not until Gray confessed his guilt to Auditor Dunn. There was no evidence before the Legislature to justify any of its removals of Republican officials.

The race for the Lincolnshire, England, handicap was won by "Knight of Burghley," "Scobell" second, "Sulphur" third. Seventeen horses started. Betting on Monday night was 9 to 1 against the winner.

BEN. BUCKBOARD.
Ben. Buckboard was a driver gay,
Who sought the hand in marriage
Of Carrie Hall, (quite rich) they say,
A girl of noble carriage.
Now Ben. was smart, and off did start
To the firm of Rees & Wirsching,
And a buggy he bought, strong and neatly wrought,
So now Carrie's coin he's disbursing.
Of course the other fellow "got left," and to save him and others from a similar source of sadness, we use this vehicle to inform them that we are makers and importers of fine Buggies, Farm and Spring Wagons and farming Implements. We are proud to connect our name with the Newton Wagon, which we have so long handled here. It is made specially for this climate, and is better ironed, better painted, runs lighter, and gives better satisfaction than any wagon sold in this market. We buy for cash and in car-load lots, and can, therefore, sell as low as those dealing in inferior stock. Agents for D. M. Osborne & Co.'s Mowers and Reapers. Old wagons repaired and painted, and taken in part payment for new ones.

SOME SONGS AND THEIR AUTHORS.

John Howard Payne and his Deathless Bit of Song.

Written for the TIMES.]

The author of the deathless lyric, unsurpassed in sweetness and musical charm, "Home, Sweet Home," was John Howard Payne. While a wanderer in trans-Atlantic cities he was one day loitering through unfamiliar streets, and seeing a Sicilian girl disposing of some kind of fancy Italian wares, humming a most musical refrain in a melodious voice, he stopped to listen, and caught the air now so familiar to all the world. The "Home" to which he makes allusion in the well-known verses, refers to the shelter of his own childhood at East Hampton, Long Island. The tender feeling underlying all the words can get the fancy of the multitude at once; and after the poem had won a lasting place for itself among other heart-felt songs and popular melodies, its author drew attention to the village in a magazine article. It opened with words containing the essence of that sentiment given expression to in the lines, "An exile from home," &c.

"Many an eye," he wrote, "wearied with the glare of foreign grandeur, will ere long lull itself to repose in the quiet beauty of this village." The "lowly, thatched cottage" was indeed dear to his memory, as a pleasant and treasured feature of that olden town. As wandering up and down the streets of crowded London, lonely and dejected, the warmth and cheer of brightly-lighted homes oft brought to him a sense of utter desolation, and in such a mood the words were suggested, which being penned, recalled all the old, dimly-remembered sights and sounds of his boyhood. Leaving his father's hearthstone when a mere lad, for many long years the "hymnist of home" was a wanderer in far-off foreign lands. The song which shadows forth his own longings and regrets, and is so dear to the hearts of the people, brought no profit to the autaor. He was not even complimented by the gift of a copy from the publisher.

"Kathleen Mavourneen" had its birth in the poor and unpretending room of a Plymouth music-teach r. For the copyright of his song he was generously presented a five-pound note. At the time, Mlle. Titien was singing in New York, and creating such a furore. Crouch, the author of "Kathleen," feeling a strong desire to hear the celebrated vocalist, managed to scrape together enough money for the purchase of a pit seat, and attended the concert. As an encore, the prima donna rendered, with exquisite charm and feeling, his own song. So delighted was he, that when the entertainment closed he rushed behind the curtain and earnestly begged permission to speak to the songstress. Receiving permission and entering her presence, his feelings overcame him, and he burst into tears, sobbing out, "Oh, Mad'le, I never before heard my song sung as you have sung it!" "Your song?" she said. "I am indeed the composer, and I felt I must thank you myself." Thrice happy was he, to have his own touching composition the glad triumph of a never-to-be-forgotten evening. Rev. H. D. L. Webster wrote the pathetic song of "Lorenci," once so popular, which has a real romance wrapped up in its verses. The music has a peculiar charm and the plaintive words are at once touching and tender. He loved and wooed a fair maiden, who returned his affection, but the worldly prospects of a poor country pastor were not kindly looked upon by her aristocratic relatives, and thus a seperation ensued. Resigning his pastorate he moved to another town, plunging into work, hoping that labor and duty would atone for the sorrow of an unhappy attachment. The only sign shown to the world, treating of his love and sorrow, was given expression to, in that pathetic song, holding a deep longing heart-cry. "Auld Robin Gray" was the composition of Lady Anne Lindsay, who kept the secret of its authorship from all save her mother, till shortly before her death. Everybody who heard it sung was pleased with both the words and air, and wondered who the composer was. At last the authoress saw it attributed to herself in one of Walter Scott's novels—"The Pirate"—and then she wrote and thanked him for his wise discrimination. A dear friend of Lady Anne's once said to her, after hearing the song, "I am sure you must be the authoress of those words yourself, you give them so much expression and feeling." "Beautiful Snow" is but the real story of a frail woman and erring wife. Its author, Major Sigourney, was for a long time unknown. When young, he wooed and won a young lady of rare personal beauty, and together they traveled in many lands. At length sad stories reached his family affecting her character. A love of drink finally caused her to desert her husband, plunge downward into paths of ruin, and at last find an asylum at Blackwell's Island. All his efforts to redeem her proved useless, and one winter's morning she was found dead, buried under the snow, its mantle of purity her winding sheet. Her remains were taken to the "Silent City of the Dead," overlooking the beautiful harbor. His sorrow is most touchingly expressed in that familiar poem, written at the close of her sad life, and only by chance finding its way, long afterward, into print.

Calico Print.]

Yesterday morning a woman by the name of Mrs. Laura Buker attempted to commit suicide by taking strychnine. Her father lives in Phœnix, Arizona, and it is said he forced her to marry a man against her will whom she afterwards left and went to San Bernardino, where she became acquainted with a man who desired to marry her. To avoid him she came here. She received threatening letters from him, and letters from her father begging her to return home, all of which so exercised her mind that she resolved to take her life. She has a daughter four or five years old. Her father is expected on the train to-day. It is doubtful that she will live.

New Mexico was settled, the inhabitants claim, in 1550, 333 years ago, at Santa Fe, fifteen years before the founding of St. Augustine, which long enjoyed the reputation of being the oldest town in the United States. Albuquerque, which is now rising into prominence as the "metropolis" and capital of the future State, was founded a hundred years later. But it is not old Albuquerque but new Albuquerque that is thus marked out for coming greatness. Three years ago, when the Atchison and Topeka road came through, two miles from the old town, a new town sprang up around the railway station, and it has grown so rapidly that now it throws into the shade the ancient Mexican pueblo near by.

By telegraph to the TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Curry, 2½; Jacket, 2½; Best, 3¼; Point, 85c; Belle 9½; Savage, 2¾; Bodie, 85c.

San Francisco Produce Market.

Revised Daily for the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.

FLOUR—Market easy at current rates. We quote: Best City Extra, $6.25@6.50; Medium grades, $5.50@6.75; Shipping Superfine, $4.25@5 25 ₰ bbl.

WHEAT—Receipts are light. Many dealers think that $2 ₰ ctl for choice shipping grades would be about as approximate a quotation as could be given.

BARLEY—The heavy rain of yesterday morning had a demoralizing effect on the situation, and quotations fell some 10@12c ₰ ctl all round, and would likely have tumbled much lower if the short interest had not, to some extent, stemmed the downward current by heavy purchases. To-day the market made an equally bad, if not worse, break. The extreme figure on the street is given at $1 35 for No. 1 Feed, with the prospects of lower rates before the day closes. The asking range for Brewing is $1 40@ 45, though no one at the moment is anxious to buy at the latter figure.

CORN—A carload of fair Nebraska changed hands to-day at $1 57½. Some holders are asking 10c advance. The native article is scarce, and offering at $1 50@1 52½ ₰ ctl.

HAY—Sales are limited, owing to buyers keeping back. The best offer for a lot of choice Oat this morning was $20, but the parcel was held at $21 ₰ ton. We quote as follows: Alfalfa, $16@17; Wheat, $18 00@21 00; Wild Oat, $18@21; Mixed, $17@18 ₰ ton.

POTATOES—Supplies continue liberal. Wharf rates are as follows: River Red, 50@60c; Early Rose, 55@65c; Petaluma and Tomales, 80@81; New, 3@3½c ₰ lb.

ONIONS—Business to-day was done at a range of 75c@$1 60 ₰ ctl. No choice lots offering.

BEANS—More inquiry is noted. We quote: Bayos, $5 20@5 50; Butter, $3 25@3 50 for small and $3 50@4 00 for large; Lima, $3 75@4; Pea, $4 00; Pink, $5 00@5 15; Red, $5 00@5 10; Small White, $4; Large White, $3 25@3 50 ₰ ctl.

FRUIT—The first Strawberries of the season arrived to-day, selling at $1 ₰ basket. Last year the initial consignment reached market about the 12th of April. We quote as follows: Apples, 25@40c for common and 75c@$1.50 for good to choice; Lemons, $5@7 ₰ box for Sicily; California Lemons, $2.00@3.00 ₰ box; Limes, $11@12 ₰ box for Mexican; Tamarinde, 12@13c ₰ lb; Bananas, $1.50 @$3 ₰ bunch; California Oranges, $1.25@1 75 for common and $2@3 ₰ box for good to choice; Pineapples, $6@8 ₰ doz Western Cranberries are offering at $15@17 ₰ bbl.

HONEY—We quote, Comb, 12@18c; extracted, 5@10c ₰ lb.

BUTTER—Supplies are moderately free, but dealers manage to keep the depots fairly cleaned up. Fancy, 25@26c; choice, 24@24c; fair to good, 18@22c; inferior lots from country stores, 15@17c; choice firkin, old, 19@22c; do new, 22@25c; ordinary do, 17@19c; pickled roll, 20@21c; new, 25@25c; Eastern, 17@20c ₰ lb.

CHEESE—Is more plentiful, and it is only in exceptional cases outside figures are obtained. California, 14@15c for choice; 11@13c for fair to good; do factory, in boxes, 14@16c; Eastern, 16@17c ₰ lb.

EGGS—Custom not very active. Lower prices prevailed to-day. Quotable at 21½@22½c ₰ dozen.

POULTRY—Consignments are light, though large enough for immediate wants. We quote rates: Live Turkeys, gobblers, 17@19c; Hens, 20@21c; dressed do, 20@22c ₰ lb; Roosters, $6@6 50 for old and $9.00@11 00 for young; Hens, $6.50@7.50; Broilers, $5.50@7.50, according to size; Ducks, $8.50@9 00 per dozen; Geese, $2@2 50, and Goslings, $3@3 50 per pair.

WOOL—Receipts of spring are becoming more liberal. Owing to the dry weather sheep men have started in shearing quite freely all through the San Joaquin, and we understand that considerable shearing has already been done in some of the middle and northern counties of the State. As far as we can learn, lower prices than ruled last spring are expected.

HIDES AND SKINS—Buyers are not anxious about investing. Prices do not show a strong tendency. Local dealers pay for lots in order: Dry Hides, usual selection, 17½@18c; culls one-third less, and Mexican Hides 2c ₰ lb less; Dry Kip, 17c; Dry Calf, 19@22c; Salted Steers, over 55 lbs, 11c ₰ lb; Steers and Cows, medium, 50 to 55 lbs, 9@10c ₰ lb; light do, 30 to 50 lbs, 9c; Salted Kip, 15 to 30 lbs, 11c; Salted Calf, 14@15c ₰ lb.

MEATS—Meats are generally in good supply, while prices are well maintained. Most of the supply is from Nevada. Rates for whole carcasses from slaughterers to dealers: Beef—Prime, 6@6½c; medium grades, 5@7½c; inferior, 5½@6c ₰ lb. Veal—Large Calves, 8@9c; small ones, 8@10c ₰ lb. Mutton—Wethers are quotable at 5½@6c, and Ewes at 5@5½c ₰ lb, according to quality. Lamb—Spring is quotable at 12½@15c ₰ lb. Pork—Live Hogs, 7¼@7¾c for hard, and 6¼@6¾ for soft; dressed do, 10½@10¾c ₰ lb for hard grain Hogs.

S. E. Bisbey, of Santa Barbara, has been in the city for several days past, with an eye to business.

Rev. S. S. Fisk, of Santa Barbara, who came to town several days ago, will visit various points of interest in Los Angeles county to gather material for a series of lectures on Southern California which he proposes delivering in the East at an early period. Mr. Fisk is capable of handling his subject with ability, and will make an interesting and instructive lecture.

T. D. Crocker, Esq., of Cleveland, Ohio, is now on a visit to Los Angeles, stopping at the Cosmopolitan. He is a leading citizen and business man of the former city, and was at one time a member of the Ohio State Board of Equalization. He has mining interests in Northern California, also in Arizona, which he has come west to look after. In Cleveland he is in the iron-manufacturing business extensively and the works of his firm cover several acres of ground. The TIMES hopes that Mr. Crocker's stay in Los Angeles will be pleasant and protracted.

Concert Rehearsal.

A rehearsal of the Mamie Perry concert was had last night at the music store of Clark & Mendoza, on First street, which demonstrated that the concert will be a very excellent one. Those participating in the affair were all on hand, with the exception of one or two, and the programme was well, even finely, rendered—so well, in fact, that a crowd was attracted in front of the building that almost blocked the street. The quintette from the Contessa d'Amalfi, by Petrella, was rendered superbly and is truly a very superior composition. This is said to be the first time any portion of this opera has ever been performed in this country, but it is destined to become a favorite. Miss Perry sang a solo, and she and Prof. Pfann a duet from the same opera, and all were elegant. The composer had a soul full of music, and he threw it into his composition. The sextette from Lucia was also performed admirably. A very valuable adjunct is the orchestra which has been organized for the occasion. It consists of ten pieces, embracing such musicians as Mr. H. Wangeman and Geo. Scoville, the cornetist. Prof. Engels has charge of the orchestra, and they performed some ravishing music last night.

Frightened Farmers.

There have been numerous opportunities lately to make money by the purchase of growing grain, but few profited by the offers. On Monday a man who has one hundred acres of growing grain in the vicinity of Boyle Heights offered to sell it for $300. The grain was growing nicely, but the prospect of a dry season induced the man to try to get something out of it when he could. His offer was not accepted, and the next day the rain began. It couldn't be bought to-day for less than $1500. A Mr. Courtwright had 300 acres in barley on the Centinela. He also had put up a little house for use during the time of putting in and harvesting, which was worth $100. He offered the whole to a friend last Sunday for $200. Tuesday the rain began, and Mr. Courtwright will make a handsome profit by not being able to sell. Another instance, the biggest of the lot, is that of a gentleman lately from the East, who had put in 600 acres. He became so much discouraged that he said if he could get enough out of it to take him East again he would sell. He fixed the figure at $100. This was paid him, and the purchaser is said to have sold it since for $6,000. Such are some of the vicissitudes of farming in Southern California. It is a bad plan to get frightened and become panic stricken.

Fountain Correspondence.

Mr. W. S. Moore, chairman of the fountain committee, recently wrote Mrs. Foltz that it was impossible to find a situation on the streets where the fountain would be of real benefit and service to the community, where there was room for the foundation, with lamps, etc., which Dr. Cogswell's fountain embraced, and wished to know if it could not be put up without the lamps, as in that case an eligible location could be found for it. Mrs Foltz replied that the Doctor carries out his plans entire in these matters, and rather raps somebody over the knuckles by saying she did not think Los Angeles would lose the elegant fountain for the paltry sum of $200 or $300 which the lamps would entail. Her impression seems to be that it is not a want of location, but a wish to save a couple of hundred dollars that causes the correspondence. The fact is there is not a location in the city, outside of the plaza or the Sixth street park, where it would be possible to erect a fountain on the plan of Dr. Cogswell. The Spring street end of the courthouse is the only place where there is sufficient space, but that property is liable to pass into the hands of private parties at any time, and the fountain removed It is not the "paltry sum" but the location which stands in the way.

It Had Become a Street.

The case of B. Blake, in which suit was brought against him for misdemeanor, in excavating a public street, was tried in the City Court yesterday. It appears that there is a strip of land adjoining M Blake's property on Pearl street, which has belonged to Mr. Beaudry. It has been unoccupied for many years past, and the lots on either side having been fenced, this has come to be a thoroughfare for residents living further back on the hill, and has been used as such for more than five years. Mr. Blake recently purchased Mr. Beaudry's title to the ground for $50, which would indicate that Mr. Beaudry valued the title very low. Mr. Blake then proceeded to make some excavations in the street, or his lot, as he considered it, to which the residents thereabouts demurred. The jury found him guilty. Justice Morgan will pass sentence to-day, which will no doubt be very light, as Mr. Blake is said to have acted under the advice of legal counsel.

Vernon.

Vernon is a suburb of this city which is not very often "written up," but is nevertheless one of the most thriving districts adjacent to Los Angeles. Property during the last few months has been rapidly improved, and the orchards and vineyards are looking in splendid condition. Vernon is settled mainly by well-to-do farmers and miners from the East, and their places are kept in the best of order and look very inviting. The deciduous trees are looking extremely well at present, and promise one of the largest crops ever known. The wine grape is also receiving much attention, and several hundred acres have been put out this spring. Vernon has an excellent school building, and the daily attendance is good. It is probable that more school accommodations will be needed before long. Nearly every day the construction of some comfortable cottage or handsome residence is commenced in this locality, and in time it will rival any settlement in Southern California in productiveness and the possession of pleasant homes.

A Big Land Transaction.

A syndicate composed of Messrs. M. L. Wicks, E. T. Wright, M. E. Hodgkins, of Los Angeles, and Chas. H. Watts, of Pasadena, have purchased a large tract of land, known as the Ben Dreyfus tract, in the San Rafael rancho, lying north of the city, and containing 8,400 acres. The tract adjoins the Hunter Highland View tract, just beyond East Los Angeles, thence up the river and into the Verdugo canyon, near the lands of H. J. Crow. There are now 700 acres of the land lying under ditches subject to irrigation, and several hundred more can readily be brought under water, while a considerable portion lies adjacent to the lands of Mr. Glassell, on which he has artesian wells. These gentlemen will proceed to colonize the lands as rapidly as possible, and will place them upon the market immediately. Mr. Wright, the surveyor, is now laying out the tract into lots. The consideration was $50,000.

Death's Doings.

Geo Noble, lately from Greenup, Ky., late Superintendent of the Eastern Kentucky Railway, died at Pasadena on Monday last, and his body has been embalmed for shipment home by Albert Brown. He was a member of the Masonic order.

Mrs. Louisa A. Bidwell, mother of Mrs. J. W. Potts, died on Wednesday evening, and her remains were taken to Santa Ana for interment yesterday.

Laborers Wanted.

The sidewalks of the streets leading up to the hills, particularly those of Temple street, are covered with "slickens," which it will take the chain-gang many weary hours to remove. Young and able-bodied men are now in demand by the Captain of the chain-gang, and those who yield to the subtle influence of the flowing bowl will duly find themselves in a position to do the city substantial service.

Sale of Sheep.

Mr. H. H. Rixby, of the firm of Brown, Bixby & Bartley, went ont to Spadra, day before yesterday, and as one result of the rain, sold a band of 1,400 sheep at a good price which for some weeks past he had vainly attempted to sell, owing to the short feed. He reports the farmers and stockmen about Spadra very jubilant at the almost certain prospect of most excellent crops of grain and feed.

The Rain at the Sierra Madre.

A correspondent writes to the TIMES under date of Sierra Madre, Thursday morning, March 29, as follows: "Four inches and a half of rain have fallen at Sierra Madre, and still it comes. We hear the river roaring west of the Villa, and it is two miles away. Still, the rain has come so easily that even our porous, sandy soil has not washed at all."

BILLY McDOWELL.

His Attempt to Murder his Wife at San Bernardino.

An Old Law, which Should be Repealed, will Probably Save his Life—Maggie McCurdy not Married.

Billy McDowell, the murderer of Maggie McCurdy, is said to be very sick in the San Bernardino jail, so much so as to require the constant attendance of a nurse, who is locked in the cell with him. His sickness is caused in part, at least, by his inability to supply himself with opium, to the use of which he had become addicted. He is also said to be very anxious to correspond with his wife, who is also confined in another portion of the jail, his object being, it is supposed, to work upon her feelings, so that she will not testify against him, and as there was no other witness, his neck will not be endangered. There is a statute, a relic of the olden time, which forbids a wife to testify against her husband in criminal cases, unless his consent is given; and if this is true, and the statute applies in this case, is is very doubtful if McDowell will be meted out his just deserts in this case. It can be proven that he went away with the girl and his wife, and that he returned without her; but the testimony of the killing rests alone with McDowell's wife, and if her mouth is closed he cannot be convicted of murder.

There will, however, be little inducement for his wife to save his neck, as he had repeatedly threatened to kill her, and on at least one occasion it looked as though he would attempt to enforce the threat. It was a few days before his arrest when he persuaded her to take a walk with him. They walked out to the eastward of the town, and he became furiously wrought up at something. He tied the girl's hands behind her as they neared the Santa Ana river bridge, and swore he would then and there end her existence by drowning her. Her outcries brought some Indians in sight, and the fiend desisted. So closely did McDowell watch her that it was with the greatest difficulty she secured an interview with Officer Wixom, who placed him under arrest. She was domiciled in a house of ill repute and he hung about so closely that she was scarcely out of his sight at any time. Growing desperate at his threats and his attempt on her she ran out of the house and into another of the same character near by. McDowell soon missed her and followed to where she really was, but the mistress told him she was not there, and ordered him out of the place. He went, and his wife then sent word to Wixom to come to her. He came that way, and after gaining her secret, started out the front way, when he met McDowell coming again to search for his wife, when he placed him under arrest. There can be no doubt that he would soon have found opportunity to put Rosa out of the way had she not caused his arrest.

A search through the archives of the County Clerk fails to reveal the slightest indication of the marriage of Maggie McCurdy to O'Brien, though Maggie before her death persisted in saying that they were legally married, and after O'Brien left her she filed a suit for divorce. the papers of which are still in the office of an attorney in this city. O'Brien is said to have a wife and family in Arizona, and the story that he was decoyed by Billy McDowell to some of the way-stations between San Bernardino and Calico has but little in it to entitle it to credence. That he has not been heard from since Maggie's death is no great cause for wonder, as he probably had grown tired of her, and had made up to some other female, if he did not go back to his wife. It is said that he was employed as a guard on the trains in Arizona during the Indian troubles there during the fall, and this was after the time McDonald was driving the Calico stage. The supposition in regard to the marriage of Maggie and O'Brien now is that it was a mock affair and that he probably had some one personate a Justice of the Peace and perform the ceremony. At least no license was ever issued to the couple in this county, where they were said to have been married.

Pasadena.

Friday evening our expectations were more than realized in the musical treat furnished by the talented musicians from Los Angeles under the able direction of Mr. Day. By the manner in which the selections were encored, several to the second time, it was very evident that the concert was highly appreciated by the large audience assembled in Schoolhouse Hall. At the close an informal reception was given to the musicians, at which refreshments were served. Seventy-five dollars were cleared in aid of the organ fund.

The Pasadena Union Temperance League is making vigorous efforts to induce Miss Frances E. Willard to visit Pasadena and deliver a lecture on temperance.

The Rev. Thomas K. Beecher, of Elmira, N. Y., paid us a flying visit Wednesday, staying at the house of Mr. James Campbell. He starts for San Francisco Friday.

We are all jubilant over the three inches of rain, and still it comes.

Harry Lightfoot started for "Old England" Monday. Bon voyage, "Arry!"

Another one of our young bachelors has broken from the brotherhood. Mr. Frank W. Green has "caught on," and with his bride commenced housekeeping.

Easter was duly observed by the several churches, the floral displays being unusually fine.

Mr. Isaac Banta is pushing the work on the foundation and cellar to his new hotel, corner of Fair Oaks avenue and Colorado street, with all possible speed.

BREVITY.

Miss Frances E. Willard's Appointments.

Miss Frances E. Willard, President of the Woman's National Christian Temperance Union, and her accomplished Secretary, Miss Anna Gordon, who arrived in Los Angeles on Wednesday afternoon, have decided upon the following plan of work for Southern California:

Public reception at Fort Street M. E. Church on Saturday evening, March 31. Gospel service Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, and address in the evening by Miss Willard at the same place. Reception at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Fellows Monday afternoon; address at Fort Street M. E. Church in the evening. Organization of local union at same church on Tuesday forenoon at 10 o'clock. Engagements elsewhere as follows: Santa Ana, Tuesday evening, April 3d; Pasadena, Wednesday evening, April 4th: San Bernardino, Thursday evening, April 5th; Riverside, Friday evening, April 6th; San Diego, Sunday, April 7th. Miss Willard will be accompanied by Mrs. M. E. Congdon, Secretary of the State society, and possibly others.

Justices' Powers.

The late Legislature at Sacramento passed a bill greatly enlarging the powers and jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace in incorporated towns and cities. Under this Act Justice Ling will have equal jurisdiction with City Justice Morgan with authority to try civil and criminal cases that have heretofore only been tried in the City Court. Following is the text of the bill:

Section 1. Justices of the Peace of any township composed in whole or in part of an incorporated city or town, in addition to the jurisdiction and powers now conferred upon them, are authorized and empowered to exercise all powers, duties, and jurisdiction, civil and criminal, of Police Judges, Judges of Police Courts, Recorders' Courts, or Mayors' Courts, within such cities.

Bargains in Improved Land.

Twenty-five acres one mile outside city, where water is plenty; 20 acres, same locality, good house, land finely improved; another 6 acres, house, etc.; 4 or 5 acres in city, covered with very fine orchard, on Main street; 5 acres, large house, in city; 40 acres near city, good orchard, well, etc. All these, and many other properties, at the lowest prices. F. H. Barclay, over the First National Bank.

Yesterday's Rain.

Up to 2 o'clock yesterday the rain continued to fall in heavy showers, after which the clouds rolled away and the sun came forth. The sky is still clear as we go to press, though the barometer is still low. The total fall for the storm was 2:59 by the Signal Service gauge. The Normal School gauge gives but 2.22 for the storm, a difference of .37.

Reports from Santa Ana differ somewhat. Passengers by the train yesterday afternoon report that they had about half an inch of rain, while a dispatch in the afternoon gives the amount as 1.06. At Westminster about three-quarters of an inch was reported, which puts that country in very good shape.

House and lot, Orchard Tract, $800. F. H. Barclay.

The Hibernia ball at Turnverein Hall last night drew a goodly number notwithstanding the condition of the streets and crossings. The dancing was kept up to a late hour and everything passed off very pleasantly.

HOMICIDE NEAR JULIAN.

Thomas Daly, of San Felipe, Shot and Killed by Alfred de Lacour.

[Correspondence of the San Diego Union.]

JULIAN, March 26.—A man named Thomas Daly, who has resided in San Felipe Cañon for seven or eight years past, was shot and instantly killed on Sunday evening, 25th instant, by Alfred de Lacour, a Frenchman, who has been employed in chopping wood for the Ready Relief Mining Company for the last four months. The parties had had a difficulty about two weeks previous, at which time Daly drew a revolver upon Lacour. The latter swore out a warrant for Daly's arrest, but for some reason it was not served, and Daly went unmolested by the law. It is presumed that when the parties met on Sunday Daly made some demonstration toward a renewal of hostilities, when the Frenchman shot him. When his body was found there was a loaded six-shooter in his belt, and lying close at his hand a loaded double-barrelled shotgun, both hammers at full cock. There were no witnesses to the encounter between the two men. It is said that the trouble originated about land matters.

Lacour came immediately up to Julian and surrendered himself to Constable Viberg, by whom he was turned over to Constable Sullivan, of Banner, who produced a warrant issued from Justice Wilcox's Court.

At two o'clock this afternoon Lacour was brought before the Justice for examination. Before proceeding with an examination the Justice decided that the prisoner must surrender his arms. Upon this the prisoner suggested that he did not have his weapons at that place, but that he would show the officer where they were. The Court accepted the suggestion, and Deputy Constable Bray was sent with Lacour to get the arms, so that they could be formally surrendered in Court as the law directs. They went across to a Mexican's house, where Lacour produced a needle-gun and a six-shooter. At this stage, the prisoner seemed to become rather doubtful of the outlook, or impatient of the law's delay, and firing a parting salute with his six-shooter, he bid the astonished constable adieu, and made a bee-line for the Volcan mountain. Bray fired a shot at the rapidly disappearing Frenchman, from a pistol apparently more ornamental than useful, but claims that his shot took effect in the fugitive's shoulder. It is doubtful, however, if Locour has found it out yet; for it certanly did not interfere with his retreat.

The attorney for the prosecution, Mr. Summers, found himself entirely unable to reply to the motion made by the defendant, and the Justice is still unable to arrive at any satisfactory mode of writing up the docket of the case, while the question of fees is involved in grave uncertainty.

A reward of fifty dollars is offered for the arrest of Lacour, who is a sandy-complexioned man, about five feet eight inches in height, and weighs about 150 pounds.

Daly, the man who was killed, has always been regarded as rather a "cranky" sort of man, being eccentric in his habits.

Enlarging.

Messrs. Burch & Boal have already found their store, which appeared ample for all needs for years to come when they opened, entirely too small. They now propose to enlarge it in the rear, extend their counter and shelving through to the rear end of the room and fit up the shed-room back for the storage of meats and flours, doing it with zinc to make it perfectly rat and mouse proof for the flour, and the meat room is to be cut off entirely with wire screen. The firm has had a wonderful success since it began operations.

A Fictitious Name.

Henry Hughes, for selling an order on Joe Nedo, a fictitious personage, to Ramon Dominguez, was yesterday sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment in San Quentin. He represented that the Nedo meant was Mr. R. Nadeau and that he owed him $20. On these representations Dominguez bought the order, which proved to be worthless, and got the young man into trouble.

Eames, the nursery stock dealer, has just received a lot of Hungarian and French prune trees from the North. They are to be found next door to the Trinity M. E. Church.

The California Southern.

From the San Bernardino Index, March 28.]

The owners of the California Southern did not have much foresight when they projected a road from San Diego to Colton or San Bernardino. A road running a distance of one hundred and twenty miles over such a sparsely settled country never can pay the interest on the money invested in this road. It cost over three millions to build the road and put the rolling stock on it. With the exclusive trade of San Diego and San Bernardino, leaving the Southern Pacific out altogether, the stock-holders would still find that they had an elephant on their hands. For the six or seven months the terminus of the road has been allowed to remain at Colton, and during that time, according to the published statements of the company, it has not met its running expenses. Travel has increased over the road, but it cannot hope to make it pay in twenty years from date. Surmising and conjecturing are rife as to the ultimate aim of the company, whether it will be absorbed by the great Southern Pacific, or completed to the parent stem, the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé, on the Colorado river. It must go on. Within three months it will probably be completed to San Bernardino, but it cannot stop here. The rich mining region to the north holds out an invitation that is sure to be accepted. Its silver fields have been merely prospected, and yet it is sending out its bullion at the rate of six and eight thousand dollars a day.

San Diego wants to be a great city, and she can be by the extension of their road through the Cajon Pass. With access to our mines she will bear the same relation to them that San Francisco did to the mines of Nevada in her palmy days. It is a golden chance, and every hour of delay strengthens the Southern Pacific in its hold on this territory. The necessities of San Diego and San Bernardino demand that such a road shall be built, and it will be done, if not by the California Southern, then by some other company. We have our products here that must be sent to the mines by the shortest route. Fast passenger coaches are making money conveying travelers to the mines through the Cajon Pass, and saving money to the travelers, when the cars can be taken at Colton and railroad accommodations secured to the same point. But it is at a cost of time and money to go by rail. Now is the time for the California Southern to push ahead its road.

Secretary Folger is somewhat improved in health.

It is understood that charges have been preferred against J. B. Cosgrove and John L. French, Brady's chief clerk while the latter was Second Assistant Postmaster General.

It is reported that the Naval Advisory Board favor equipping League Island Yard with plant and machinery necessary for the construction of iron and steel ships. Naval officers believe the Government will soon appreciate the importance of being able to build its own ships.

One of the editorial writers on the Examiner is evidently out of his place. He says: "The necessities of life are indispensable." There is only one paper on the coast where that ferocious style of writing is admissible, and that is the Call.—[San José Mercury.

Flooded Again.

The parties who occupied the old adobe, corner Alameda and Commercial streets, mention of the flooding of which was made in yesterday's TIMES, got the water out yesterday, and toward evening had most of the mud scraped out and some of the floors nicely mopped and things rearranged, when the zanja which flows just above it became choked up in the culvert which crosses Commercial street, and the waters were again turned into the back yard and building. It was love's labor lost, and they slept last night in rooms well wet down with eight or ten inches of water. The old shell is hardly safe, and it may be expected to fall at anytime. It is full of people, too—just swarming.

The Court House.

A few gentlemen of means and enterprise are about to make overtures to the Board of Supervisors for the purchase of the county's property on Spring street at good round figures. This, with the sum that may be realized from the court house property, will enable the county to purchase an eligible site elsewhere, and leave quite a fund remaining in the treasury. It is high time action was taken.
